Honorary Life Membership

The Committee proposes to award an Honorary Life Membership to Jacqueline Leigh for her enormous contribution to the Society. Jackie joined the Society, then known as the University of London Extra-Mural History of Art Society (ULEMHAS), over thirty years ago. She became a member of the Committee in 2004, and was Chairman from 2010 to 2014 during which time the successful short courses were introduced. After stepping down from being Chairman in 2014 she became Short Courses Coordinator until last year. Since 2010 she has also been an invaluable member of the Review panel, which oversees production of the Society's annual Review. Jackie has always had a rigorous approach to running the Society, promoting our affiliation with Birkbeck and maintaining the highest academic standards in our education programme. The Society owes Jackie a huge debt of gratitude.
